Get your Flu Shot!

This year's Flu Vaccine Clinic will again be provided by HEB pharmacy. They will have the High Dose Flu vaccine and the Pneumonia vaccine. See schedule below.

East Campus – Legacy Room:

Friday, Sep 27, 9am-noon and 1pm-4pm

West Campus – Roadrunner Lounge:

Monday, Sep 30, 9am-noon and 1pm-4pm

The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) recommends a yearly flu vaccine for everyone six months of age and older as the first and most important step in protecting against the flu. Getting vaccinated before the flu activity begins helps protect you once the flu season starts in your community. It takes two weeks after vaccination for the body's immune response to fully respond and for you to be protected; so make plans to get your flu vaccine. CDC recommends ongoing flu vaccination as long as influenza viruses are circulating, even into January or later. There are many flu viruses and they are constantly changing. The composition of flu vaccines for the United States is reviewed annually and updated to match circulating viruses.

To receive your flu vaccination, please bring your health insurance cards, i.e. Medicare Card & Military ID Card; Humana; Aetna; Blue Cross Blue Shield, etc. Please Note: Medicare Advantage Plans such as Humana, Aetna, Blue Cross Blue Shield may require copayments for vaccinations. Please contact your insurance company to verify. Any required copayments will be due at the time of vaccination.

SELECT REHABILITATION NEWS

Ageing Actively with Osteoarthritis (OA) - Sometimes called degenerative joint disease, OA occurs when cartilage, the tissue that cushions the ends of the bones within the joints, breaks down. Common risk factors for developing OA include increasing age, obesity, previous joint injury, overuse of the joint, weak thigh muscles, and genes. OA causes pain, stiffness and swelling in the affected joints. There may be a clicking or cracking sound when the joint bends. When the lower body joints are affected, activities such as walking may become difficult. When finger and hand joints are affected, grasping and holding objects may become difficult. Joint pain may lead to a sedentary lifestyle that promotes weight gain. People living with OA have risk factors such as decreased function, muscle weakness and impaired balance which make them more likely to fall. Side effects from medications used for pain relief can also contribute to falls. There is no cure, but individuals living with OA can manage the symptoms. Physical activity is essential for individuals living with OA. Likewise, eating right and managing your weight can help by minimizing stress on the weight-bearing joints, limiting further injury, increasing mobility, and reducing the risk of associated health problems. If you would like to receive more information on how the therapy department can help you, please call:

- 210-568-5171 for the East campus
- 210-568-3415 for the West campus
